

I have been a long time consumer of both wire and wireless forms of communication. I would appreciate your FAVORABLE consideration of insuring open competition in all facets of the industry by granting number portability in ALL areas. By allowing "my" number(s) to be portable in wire based systems, wireless systems and between both systems, you will increase the opportunity for consumers to continually "shop" for the best price and service combination. This increased competition will force all companies to carefully consider their service and price offerings. Thank you for you consideration.
